

NOAM OHANA

Seeds

Noam Ohana is a Managing Director at Exor.

Prior to managing Seeds, Noam was managing partner of Conegliano Ventures, a venture capital fund. Noam was also Partner of BeaconLight Capital, a global equity long-short fund he co-founded in 2010.

Noam started his investment career in 2007 at Atticus Capital, where he managed a fund-of-funds.

Noam graduated from Sciences Po (Public Affairs) in 1999 and from Stanford University (MA), where he was a Fulbright Scholar, in 2001.